Public's assistance sought on escaped Lebanon Correctional Institution inmate

CINCINNATI – The Ohio State Highway Patrol is seeking the public's assistance in locating Larry D. Haynes, an inmate who escaped from the Lebanon Correctional Institution this morning.

Patrol investigators said Haynes, 33, of Cincinnati, was a part of the honor camp program and was working on the facility's hog farm. He was last seen at approximately 8:15 a.m. Friday and was reported as escaped at 8:25 a.m.

Haynes is a white male, 6'2", weighing 220 pounds. He has brown hair, blue eyes, and may be unshaven or have a goatee. Haynes was incarcerated in May 2008 on two theft charges and was due to be released on Sept. 9, 2009.

Anyone with information regarding Haynes should contact the Ohio State Highway Patrol's Lebanon Patrol Post immediately at 513-932-4444.
